Hey everybody, it's Leslie Tagorda. Here your brand designer and astrologer coming to you this week all about Libra season. Oh my goodness, we're still in Mars retrograde, you know, the pressure of the beginning of the retrograde season is over. So I think that most of us know the initial frustration is gone. But you know, we're still in it for another nine weeks, right? So, still not time to rush. But we really get to look forward to how do we bring balance and the spirit of CO creation, while Libra season is with us. Aloha and welcome to the best savvy luminary, and astrology podcast for entrepreneurs. I'm your host, Leslie Tagorda. I'm an Aquarius boss woman, a brand designer, business astrologer, and overall business navigator helping you reach your highest potential using astrology, you're not going to find any fearmongering here, I'm going to teach you how to use astrology as an empowering tool that helps you believe and achieve your greatest gifts. I'm going to make this a short and sweet episode. But before we get into all of the details about Libra season, and yes, you have Libra in your chart somewhere. So if you're thinking, Well, I'm not a Libra, this doesn't apply to me. I want you to reconsider that. Before we get into the episode. I'd like to share a beautiful review recently left on Apple podcasts by Erika and she says I recently discovered the savvy luminary I can't get enough. Leslie's humor, warmth and wisdom are so nourishing. I don't know that I've ever met someone so insightful about astrology in relationship to business. If you're remotely curious about how to use astrology in your brand, definitely give this podcast a listen because it will light you up. Oh my goodness. Thank you so much, Erica, for the beautiful shout out. And if you really love this podcast, please help this podcast get into more people's ears by sharing it with your business besties or by rating and reviewing it on Apple podcast or Stitcher. Alright, so today we're going to talk about Libra season, I'm going to talk all about the Libra archetype and how that fits into our businesses and our brands. Because it is so important. We're also going to be talking about a little bit about the equinox. Of course, in you know, we have both the fall Equinox and the spring equinox. Depending on where you are, if you are, if you're in the Northern Hemisphere, we will be celebrating the fall equinox. If you are in the southern hemisphere, you'll be celebrating your spring equinox. But just like the word Equinox of equanimity of equal Venus, Libra, when the sun moves into Libra at that exact moment, we have our Equinox where both the day and the night are equal, like no matter where on this beautiful planet you live. And then at the end, I'll go over some of the just a little bit of astrology that's happening. Of course, like I mentioned, we're still in Mars retrograde, but we have a few mercury aspects happening next week that are really going to help you amp up your message. All right, so let's talk

Leslie Tagorda 03:50

about Libra season. So how I'm going to format this is I'm going to talk about a little bit about the archetype of the Libra Zodiac right. I'm also going to be talking about Libra through the different houses, right, because like I said, even if you don't have any planets, you don't have any energies in Libra. You have Libra somewhere in your chart. It's the ruler of some house in your chart. And that shows up shows us where you need to bring in more Libra energy in your life and your business. I'll also be talking about planets, the planets through Libra. And the main goal of understanding this Libra energy is to understand how and where we need to show up in our brand where we need to partner collaborate, be friendly, and be harmonious all of the Libra themes so you may or may not know this beautiful Libra Zodiac but it is an air sign. So the air signs of Libra and Aquarius and Gemini right? They love Connecting over intellectual pursuits, all of the air signs are social creatures, with Libra leading the way, right? If we think of Libra, the opposite of Libras Aries, right, and so if we look at a chart, Libra and Aries will be on the opposite side of the circle in areas we talked about is the me aspect me first me being the Trailblazer me being the best. And Libra on the other side of the chart is about the re, it's about collaborating and partnering and committing to each other in harmonious ways. So as an air side, again, its intellectual, its social, it loves chatting.

And

oftentimes, LIBOR operates from the place in its mind, while Libra is an air sign. It's also the modality of it is a cardinal signs. The Cardinal signs are Aries, cancer, Libra, and Capricorn. All of the cardinal signs are instigators. So if you notice, every time we have the sun move into a cardinal sign, initiate, it starts a new season, right. So when the sun moves into Libra, it triggers an equinox, and it begins the fall season in the Northern Hemisphere, or the spring season in the southern hemisphere. So at the beginning of winter, with Capricorn season and the beginning of summer with cancer season, we don't have the equinoxes, but we have the solstice is where we have either the longest or the shortest days. Now the symbol of Libra is very appropriate, right? It's the symbol of the scales, we can think of Lady Justice holding the scales bringing balance and equanimity. And if you look at the zodiac, the glyph of the zodiac symbol of Libra, it comes from the Egyptian symbol of the setting sun. I think this is so beautiful, because when we think about Libra sitting in the natal chart, it rules the seventh house. And so if we divide the natal chart into a circle with a top hemisphere and the bottom hemisphere, the eastern horizon, which is on the left of the horizon, which is our rising sign the ascendant, right, that's the doorway into the first house. On the opposite side of the horizon, we have the seventh house, CUSP or the descendant. And so appropriately, the Egyptian symbol of the setting son of the glyph. For there's the line on the bottom, and then there's a line on the top that has kind of a half moon. It represents the descendant, the ruler of the seventh house, because in a natal chart, that area of the chart is where the sun is setting on our chart, whatever you have in the seventh house, it doesn't matter what Zodiac it is, but it's going to have the flavor of the Libra archetype. But before we get stuck on the seventh house, let's talk more about the Libra archetype. The Libra archetype is that of the peacemaker. It's the one that loves to bring balance. It's the one that loves to bring friendliness and teamwork and harmony and justice. It's also the one that loves to make commitments to others. Because remember the very beginning, I mentioned that as an air sign Libras desire is to be social, but of the air signs, it is the most social, it's ruled by Venus. So of course, you know, anybody who has strong Libra in their chart, especially if they're a Libra rising, they have to have beauty in their lives. They're often very attractive because Venus rules Libra, and as a rising sign, that's kind of your outward appearance, right? So, Venus is ruling your outward appearance, but more so than that is that libral loves to be adored. Right? And so it really goes out of its way to make friends to partner, it actually is able to find itself through others, a Libra brand will have these kinds of elements in it as well. Very beautiful, very friendly, always making peace. But on the other hand of that Libra energy, we can't go too far, right? Because all of these zodiacs are living on a spectrum at the low end of Libra because it loves people so much. Sometimes it can go too far with people pleasing with not making beat not being able to make a decision that decision of the skills of being able to weigh everything so perfectly. It can also get to this place of being like super codependent on others, not being able to be independent right, you can kind of see how the Aries and Libra polarity works together like that. Probably if all of the different zodiacs Libra would be the sign that is the most avoidant of all right does not like conflict, right? Because Libra is such that the peacekeeper and such the diplomat that sometimes it cannot face conflict. So really watch yourself for where you have Libra in your chart. It's going to show us like by house where these energies come to fore, where we want to bring in CO creation and collaboration and partnering with others. But we also want to make sure that we're not going so far in serving others and committing to others that we are then people pleasing, and not standing up for our own boundaries. But I hope you can see how the Libra energy is so important in our business. Because of course, no person is just an island. We are all here to collaborate. We are all here to partner and serve others in committed ways. Right. So again, with the seventh house, and we'll be talking more about our ideal customers. The Libra energy in the seventh house energy really shows us who we are here to commit to whether we are hiring them, or they're hiring us. We are serving them or they're serving us. So let's take a look at Libra through the different houses. Because if you've been listening to me for a while, you know that the houses represent a different field or a different area in our life and business. I'll be focusing mostly on the business aspect of the house interpretations, except you can't really tear them totally away from our life. Because you know, our businesses are holistic. Our businesses are an extension of our solar consciousness. So of course they are intertwined. I'll be posting everything about Libra on social media, you can find me on Instagram at New Moon creative co or you can always join us in our free Facebook community, the savvy luminary. Over the next week, I'll be posting tons of Libra graphics and little cheat sheets about the Libra energy house by house planet by planet so that you can apply these Libra lessons into your brand. So one of the biggest ways we can use Libra is by understanding which house it rules. And so by understanding which house it rules, we want to look at our natal chart. And each of those lines, little pie pieces that separate the chart into 12 different pie pieces is a cusp. And so depending on which astrology chart you draw your you draw your natal chart in the symbol at the end of each of those lines represents a Zodiac. So I want you to look at your natal chart and discover symbol for Libra. And wherever Libra is at the end of the cusp sign will tell you which house is ruled by Libra. Now if you want more information exactly how to read your natal chart for business, I have a mini training which is super fun. And it's available in two places. You can find it on my website at the savvy luminary.com Ford slash challenge. Or you can find it in patreon.com forward slash the savvy luminary at the highest level where you can also watch replays of all of my premium workshops. So remember, Libra energy is about co creating, collaborating, partnering, teamwork, right the partnership. In addition to that you're doing this collaboration and co creating in beautiful, friendly, harmonious and peaceful ways. So whichever house is ruled by Libra, you're bringing in the spirit of collaboration and harmony into this area of your business. So if you are a Libra rising, this is about your brand identity and your leadership ability. You're supposed to show up as a friendly brand. I see beautiful brand. Libra rising businesses and Taurus rising businesses are the only two signs that really means A beautiful visual brand to get them off the ground. Now I know you might think like, Well, I have a Gemini rising, and I really need a beautiful brand. You don't really need it, you may want it, which is are two different things. But it's the brands and businesses that have Libra rising, and Taurus rising because they're ruled by Venus that actually have to start with looking beautiful. For all of you other signs that are like, Oh, my gosh, I need a logo before I can do anything. I want you to question your motives there. Because if you're not a Libra, or Taurus rising, Brad, you don't exactly need a beautiful brand before you can start making sales before you can start really running your business. So again, if you have Libra on the first house, you are meant to show up and collaborate and create harmonious, beautiful businesses in your brand and leadership ability. If you have Libra on the second house. Now, this is about your values,

Leslie Tagorda 16:02

not only what you value, but how you add value to your customers, right. So second house, Libra, of course, you value partnership, of course you value, teamwork, and, of course you value beauty. And in return, when customers work with you. That's what your promise is to them. They're getting teamwork, they're getting partnership, they're getting cocreation How beautiful is that? If you have Libra on your third house, this is all about your communications, your social media, your marketing. All of this has to come off with this very friendly, beautiful tone. If you have a third house Libra, your language needs to be very diplomatic, it needs to be very peaceful, it needs to be very friendly and balanced. If you have Libra on the fourth house, CUSP, this is where you're creating safe spaces and safe communities. Not so much as like these really big large communities that you might be building in the 11th house but more of your home base, right, more of where this is kind of in the private in your private areas, in your emotional groundedness in your past experiences. So if you have a Libra in your fourth house, you want to make sure that you feel really peaceful that you're creating peaceful spaces for your most innermost circle. If you have Libra on your fifth house. This is about your creative joy and your purpose, creativity, fun, delight and play. It can also represent children and offspring. And because we're talking about business, and you might have heard me mention it before, the spirit guides that help us in our business. Look at everything that we humans create as a garden. I like to look at this as like everything, we create all of our projects, all of our businesses, as little babies, little offsprings of our solar consciousness. So if you have Libra on the fifth house, your projects have to have creative joy and purpose with the Libra intention. So really co creating your creative joy projects, co creating fun, co creating artistic pursuits, if you have Libra on your sixth house, this sixth house represents your day to day operations. It may represent your employees or people that you hire to delegate, it may represent the systems and the automations that make your day effective. And so Libra on the sixth house means that you need to bring balance into that part of your life. Maybe you have a really dedicated team that helps you grow that helps your day to day operations be as peaceful as possible. And when you're creating systems, or hiring people, you want to make sure that they embody a Libra ideals. If you have Libra in the seventh house, seventh house is already ruled by Libra. It's already about collaboration. It's already about committing to teamwork. So you also then have this double ability to bring peaceful collaborations to your collaboration. your ideal customers will embody the Libra archetype, they will also be justice seekers, peace seekers, beauty seekers, social seekers, if you have Libra on your eighth house, the eighth house is the ability to transform and heal. Right. All of our businesses are always transforming the eight House also deals with other people's money. And also deals with like the negotiations and the product of collaborating, making sure that all of the negotiations go smoothly. That's all in eighth house. So if you have Libra on the eighth house, you're creating these opportunities to transform and opportunities to leverage other people's money and opportunities to negotiate from this place of collaboration. Everybody wins, peaceful opportunities. If you have Libra on the ninth house, the ninth house is about expansion. It's about expanding your vision, expanding your belief system. It is similar to the third house in the idea of education and sharing wisdom. But now your wisdom is going out to a further audience, much larger, larger, cosmopolitan audience. So if you have a Libra on the ninth house, the way that you are expanding and the way that you are sharing your ideal vision is through peaceful partnership. Now, if you have a Libra on the 10th house, much like the first house, the 10th house is also a very visible part of our chart. And this, you know you you've heard that the 10th house represents our career, the 10th house, CUSP is also known as the midheaven. But the 10th house is more than just our career. It's all about the way that we are showing up our professionalism, our public impact, right, and how we are delivering our ultimate mission in our work. So thinking about the delivery and our professionalism. So if you have 10th, house midheaven Libra, you are meant to show up and deliver and very loving, beautiful, peaceful ways. I can just imagine 10th house Libra midheaven, as somebody who is delivering something that's beautiful and artistic, if you have Libra on the 11th house. This is about social impact and community building. So you are meant to bring in the Libra energies to build your social impact, to build your larger communities to create intimacy in these larger networks, right? If we think about I didn't mention this before, but because Libra is about partnership, it is also about intimacy. So how can you create intimacy in your larger communities, with Libra on your 11th house. Now, if you have a Libra on your 12th house, the 12th house is about unity, the 12th house is about bringing things back so that we can get ready for rebirth in the first house, right? Sometimes people look at the 12th houses, secrets and death. But really, to me, this is about surrendering and restoring and bringing more flow. It's about connecting to all right. It's the it's this this ending place where you're bringing in everything that you've learned in your business and your life into this one place and say, ah, how can I now unite this with my highest self? I know that might sound really boo. But in our businesses, this is a really a place where you need to bring in more ease, right? That's the 12th house in general. And so the ease of that energy is going to have the Libra archetype. So peacefulness, beauty, like I can see a business that had 12th house Libra with doing art therapy or something like that. 12th house, eighth house of Libra, I can see that as art therapy. You know, Libra does rule a lot of the arts. So remember, I look at your chart and look at the different cusps. Look at where Libra is in all of the 12 cusps. And wherever Libra falls on that CUSP line is the house that Lieber rules. Alright, so now let's take a look at some other Libra energies as it pertains to different angles, different luminaries and different planets in your chart. You know, everything in your natal chart is a gift that you are meant to work with in your business. So take a look at your chart to see what Libra energies you may have in addition to the house that Libra rules. So as I mentioned in the houses, if you have Libra on your first house, that means you have a Libra rising or Ascendant and I love to start here with all of our planetary energies even though your rising sign isn't really a planetary energy, but it's so important in your brand. If you've ever done an apple Brad reading with me, I always talk about our three foundational pillars, our sun, our moon, and or rising sign. Yes, we have so many shiny beautiful objects in our chart. But if we can't get those three foundational energies to be fully in tune and harmonized with each other, we're not going to be able to resonate our highest light. So going back to Libra rising, if you're a Libra rising in your business, you are meant to lead and guide with all of those Libra feels. So being a beautiful, kind, peaceful and friendly leader that loves to co create, and partner with others to succeed if you have your sun in Libra, right, our sun sign is our core energy. It is the engine, the the radiance that we are always emanating. And to understand that our son is our natural talent. Now, we can't just leave our talent and just like set it aside and never use it. Now when we understand and look at our talents, it's up to us to create opportunities that allow us to express our solar radiance. So if your sun sign is in Libra, all of those ideals about partnership and teamwork and peace and creativity, you are meant to harness those energies and see them as your natural talents and create opportunities that allow you to radiate that superpower. Now, if you have a beautiful Libra moon, you're meant to feel and heal through that Libra lens. I also look at the moon sign from this place of our inner motivation, our emotional motivation, our big why in the sky. So so if you have a Libra moon, I'm curious if you want to be recognized as a peaceful co creator, what does the Libra moon have to do with your reason for wanting to run your business and being recognized now if you have a Libra Mercury, Mercury is the way that you think and express it is your input output device, it doesn't necessarily have its own thought. Mercury is just the messenger to your solar your son's consciousness, right. And sometimes Mercury, you know, can have a little glitch. After all, it's just a device. And so with Libra and Mercury, the way that you think and you express yourself, are often in very kind ways. Your Language is very poetic. It's very beautiful. You're always saying kind and thoughtful things. Now with mercury in Libra. Also make sure that you're able to express your boundaries in a diplomatic way. If you have a Venus that's in Libra. Well, Venus is in her home

Leslie Tagorda 28:19

So Venus says energy is to attract and connect with others. Venus is our values. Venus tells us what we really desire. And so with your Venus in Libra, you you you desire, beautiful things. And of course, because you desire beautiful things, you also attract and connect with beautiful things. Now, if you have Mars, a Libra Mars, this is a little bit of a paradox, right? Because Mars is not super comfortable. And Libra Mars is all about the me. And all of a sudden it's at the sign that's all about the me about the week rather. And so Mars is like, Ooh, it's not very comfortable. So Mars is our energy and our motivation to go after the things that we desire. You know, from that place of Venus, right? Mars is the energy to activate. And so Mars activating in Libra might have a hard time. It might not really react on just your own personal motives. Mars will probably most likely be motivated by the needs of others. So pay special attention. If you have Mars in Libra. Yes, you probably get really motivated by the needs of others. But make sure you're not being a doormat if you have a Libra and Jupiter. Oh my goodness, you have so much luck with teamwork with CO creation with partnerships. So make sure that you're using your powers of expansion and beliefs with partnering and all of those Libra ideals. Now Saturn if you have a Libra Saturn, Saturn is about building and structure. And this is also kind of one of these places where Saturn is not super, super comfortable and Libra, Saturn is going to give boundaries to working with others. Saturn is going to allow you to work with others in a very disciplined and sustainable way. Now we're getting into the outer planets. So because the outer planets Uranus, Neptune and Pluto moves very, very slowly. There are people that were born during Uranus and Libra, Neptune and Libra and Pluto and Libra, but it's a very, very short window. If you have Uranus in Libra, he were born between 1969 and 1975. Uranus has kind of moved in and out of Libras. For parts of those times at the beginning at the end, the fat is the time period where Uranus was in Libra. And so all of these Gen Xers have learned to use Uranus is power of innovation and individuation in their relationships. Not to be a Debbie Downer, but it is in the 60s in the 70s that we saw the beginnings of divorce in marriages, right? If we think about partnerships and marriages, those are Libra themes. And so your rawness, our ability to individuation and be an individual while in Libra kind of just really changed for a whole generation about what do committed partnerships look like if you were born if you're a Gen X or and have Uranus in Libra do know that relationships are a little bit different for you because you really need to be an individual in your relationship. Now I'm curious to know if we have any Libra Neptune people here because the last time Neptune was in Libra was between 1942 and 1957. So let me say if I have any listeners here, born between 1942 and 57, please message me, you can message me on Facebook or you can find me on Instagram. DM me and I would love to offer you a special gift, a mini Astro ban reading for anybody who has Neptune in Libra born between 1942 and 57. For Neptune people Neptune is about flowing and inspiring. Right? I think that's so beautiful. So if we think about Neptune in Libra, the people born during then would have been coming to age during kind of the 60s and kind of the hippie era. Right. And so thinking about their the beginnings of the spiritual revolution that happened for the people with Neptune in Libra, I think is just gorgeous. Now Pluto Pluto takes a really, really, really, really long time to go around the Zodiac. So the last time that Pluto was in Libra was between 1971 and 1984. So late Gen X, maybe a teeny tiny bit of the millennials, early millennials had their Pluto in Libra, Pluto is about transformation. And it's about distillation. Right? It's it's really a powerful energy that a whole generation has, because Libra is also about social justice and Pluto is about endings. For people with Pluto and Libra. social equality is super, super important. Equal rights and harmony for all are really important values for people who are born with Pluto in Libra. And then of course, let's take a look at our nodes because our nodes are so important when deciding on the next things that we are going to build in our business. If you have a north node in Libra, you're supposed to stretch and move into more peaceful and harmonious ways of doing into more teamwork, and more CO creations and collaborations. Now if you have South node in Libra, the opposite is true. You can get stuck in always working in partnerships. You can get stuck in always people pleasing. So if you have your South node in Libra, your job is to release and let go of that kind of Libra energy. So I'm curious to know what energies you have in Libra. So remember if you have your luminaries like your sun and your moon and your rising or your personal planets, Mercury Venus Mars in Libra, you're going to feel this on a much more intimate level, the Libra themes are going to be very loud and clear in your life and your business. If you have the social planet, Jupiter and Saturn in Libra, you're still going to have those Libra ideals, but it's not going to feel as close and intimate to you. Now, if you have the outer planets, Uranus, Neptune and Pluto in Libra, these are just going to be like more generational ideals. These are just going to be kind of the status quo of all most of the people around your age. So for example, I was born in 74. I do have Uranus and Pluto both in Libra. If you need to get more specificity that you're going to want to see where in which house does that occur for you to give you more information on that Libra energy? Well, I hope you enjoyed learning all about Libra, and can see the value that Libra brings in our businesses where we need to co create, commit, and partner. So let's talk about the astrology of the week. We're talking about September 20, through the 26th. So of course, the biggest event is that sun enters Libra and the equinox. So that happens on Tuesday, September 22. At 9:31 Eastern, and 6:31am Pacific at the moment the sun moves into zero degrees Libra, that Equinox happens, where we both have equal day at equal night. It's such a beautiful time and cultures all over the world from antiquity to now have celebrated the equanimity of this dark and light of the balance that Libra represents. I recently watched on National Geographic TV, a program called chasing the equinox. Oh my gosh, what a beautiful documentary to watch during this season, because it showed because the show shared in this beautiful documentary chasing the equinox. They discuss how ancient civilizations hid the secrets of their incredible knowledge of astronomy in their temples and their palaces so that they would align with the sun. On this one day. Actually, it's two days a year because we have the equinox twice. I highly recommend it because they show the examples of in Cambodia on Kawatte, a grand Hindu temple which is actually now Buddhist temple, where the central tower is crowned with the sun on the morning of the equinox. And in Mexico at the Mayan pyramid of Chichen Itza, where the shadows cast on the pyramid represent the serpent God at the precise moment of the equinox. I just really feel that Equinox in all of this balance. You know, not only are we celebrating here now the celebration of day and night, but to me because we've looked at all of the the symbolisms and all of these ancient structures that people build. We're also connecting to our past, we're connecting back and forth. So the balance of the equinox is not just in this plane of night and day, but about future and past. So I'm curious what you will be doing to bring balance. What will you be celebrating today? How is this gonna translate for you with light and dark past and future? What needs more light what needs more shadow? in the show notes I'll share the link to chasing the equinox on Nat Geo TV, as well as a couple of links to Angkor Wat, Cambodia and Chichen Itza, where they built these monuments to the equinox. Take a look at the videos. They are so incredible besides the sun moving into Libra at the time of the equinox. There aren't any other big cosmic events, but thank goodness because we need a little bit of break. Because we're still in Mars retrograde, we're approaching a Mercury Retrograde and we're also more closely approaching Saturn stopping from its retrograde motion going forward. But that all happens and a little further out. So this week, we get a little bit of a break, except that mercury as it zips through the Zodiac is ping-ponging a few different planets this week. So on Sunday, Mercury is going to be squaring Pluto. Right. And so anytime Pluto is involved, especially with the square, there's a lot of intensity. There's a lot of energy that can be misused, mismanaged. Right? So, if your emotions are running high on Sunday, I just want you to watch your words, watch how you're expressing yourself, making sure that you're using your words for good. Even if you're working through some conflict, make sure that you're using words that are empowering and expressive versus judgmental and fearful. Because Saturn is so close to Pluto, just a few days later on Wednesday, Mercury is going to be then squaring Saturn. And Mercury squaring Saturn happens on the same day that the moon is at its first quarter phase. And so when if you're working with the moon phases, because we just had a beautiful Virgo New Moon, the first quarter phase is now when you really take those plans that you've made those intentions that you've set, and you put things to action, you're pedal to the metal. So if you are doing any kind of marketing plans or anything, this would be an amazing day, right. So whatever you set your intentions for during the Virgo new moon on the 23rd, he was to put things into action. And because Mercury will be squaring Saturn, your words may not come so easily. But your plans and structures for any marketing's and any communications, you know that that's ruled by Mercury, it's going to be a great day for planning out your communication. So use that energy. And hopefully those communications can kind of support the seeds that you planted during the new moon. And then on the 24th we have another Mercury aspect, Mercury will be opposite of Mars. So again, and we still have the theme, you know all of this, all of this links with the Mars retrograde Mercury now is going to be integrating. So this is a real time that if you've been feeling frustrated if you've been feeling anger, and you haven't yet been able to figure out how to get those things into words that really are effective at moving through conflict and moving through frustration, this day on the 24th is going to be really great for you to really integrate all of the frustrations with Mars into your words and expressing yourself Mercury. This is also the day that Mercury moves into the shadow zone at 26 degrees of Libra. Starting on Thursday, the 24th. When Mercury moves into Libra at 26 degrees, this is the point where during its retrograde cycle, it's going to backtrack to Okay, so we call this the shadow zone. At this time, also Mercury is going to start to step on the brakes and start to go a little bit slower because it's been speeding through the zodiac, so it's going to be going a little bit slower. So to me what this is going to be telling us is going through the end of Libra going through Scorpio, this is about transforming. It's transforming, yes, our relationships, all of those things about Libra, but really just how we think about it, how we understand about it so much more on that coming up. Of course, I'll be having a Mercury Retrograde workshop. I'll keep you posted on that. Well, that is all I have for this week. So I really hope you enjoy this information about Libra. And remember that we all have Libra in our chart. And that tells us where we are meant to co create and bring balance in our lives and business.
