Welcome luminary I have missed you so much while I've been on my little pause, but I had to share with you all about the Pisces archetype in your work and your business, your power to create ease and flow in your work. Welcome to the savvy luminary podcast astrology for entrepreneurs. I'm your host, Leslie Tagorda, creator of the Astro brand method, business astrologer, brand designer, author and Aquarius boss woman, I help visionaries spiritual entrepreneurs and impact makers like you illuminate and amplify your unique star powers. So you can be the luminary you were born to be. Hi luminary, it is Leslie Tagorda here and we are knee deep in Pisces season. Our Pisces New Moon is much behind us. We have our upcoming Full Moon in about a week. I'm recording this on March 10, in the afternoon for 17 pm here in San Francisco. And I have been just kind of like the fire has been under my bum with wanting to record this last episode of the archetypal energies and how to work with each of these signs in our businesses in our work along our entrepreneurial journey. And the last one is Pisces, for whatever reason, Pisces you know, this podcast has been going on for a couple of years. And I think it's always in Pisces season. Pisces is that my midheaven where things just like get really, really, really busy. And instead of with kind of just going with that kind of busyness this year has been I've shared a little bit about just complete, utter burnout. And I noticed that my burnout happens when I can't reply to Facebook messages or DMS in my Instagram. And what ends up happening for me is that when I go outside, and I love Mother Nature, and I love going on my daily walks, that colors start to fade like I just can't see the brightness and the glory of all the colors. And it's been quite a burn out this time a little bit stronger than in previous because I've just been working so hard hence why taking this time off. But colors have started to return. I'm so grateful. I just remember that I was taking my morning walk and I saw this like beautiful tree are blooming with these beautiful pink flowers. And those pink flowers are calling to me and I said, Ah, I can see colors again. I was so grateful to see the vibrancy and the pink. I was like things are coming back. I'm not absolutely exhausted anymore. I can start to move, I started checking my messages again. And ideas started to follow again. And it's this idea of follow that is Pisces. So in today's episode, I wanted to share with you exactly what that Pisces archetype is and why it is so important in your business. And yes, flow and ease is so crucial in your business. What happens when you don't use that Pisces energy. And let's take a look at Pisces by planet and Pisces by house and maybe something will spark for you. So in this little pause, it's not that I haven't been doing work. I've been doing lots of work. In fact, I've still been seeing clients, we've been working through a second cohort of star powered position my four week intensive where we start applying our big three into our brand position. And I think catching up on some studying in terms of studying not only I've been reviewing just my old trainings and my own old studies, but also looking at my curriculum starting to things starting to clarify and trickle through. But the most exciting thing that I have been doing is watching the 10 part series called Changing of the gods based on the book, Cosmos and psyche by Richard Tarnis. The creators of changing of the gods over the last few weeks have been releasing these kinds of mostly historical episodes about mundane astrology, about the transits between Uranus and Pluto and how of the squares and opposition's and conjunctions. There's always a spike in awakening, whether it is like social justice, awakening, or feminism, awakening, just all of these wonderful connections in world history that the creators have put together. Now some of these episodes like a lot of just so much work, you could see how much work that they put in and going through all of these historical documentations and media, and pulling everything together to help illustrate their story. But what's been so fascinating to me, is just the correlation between this idea of archetypal astrology and kind of the spiritual look at energy and how energy flows, along with how things are meeting in science. This is where things get really exciting for me because I love science, I love spirituality. And there is a deeper connection that sometimes really, the dots are really really disconnected even though I'm sure you as a listener here, already see the dots between spirituality and, and science. And one of the episodes this was like right around the Pisces New Moon. Right before I had my new moon ceremony with some of the luminaries here. We were watching changing of the gods and there was a scientist who was talking about bio mimicry. And biomimicry is the is how engineers and scientists have started copying, mimicking things that happen in mother nature. And I forgot the scientist's name, I excuse the details. But in changing the gods, I think it was episode nine, there was a scientist and an engineer that were talking about the looking at spirals and vortex ease, and how in nature, when mother nature wants to move energy through flow energy through, it creates a spiral or a vortex. And you can see these spirals and, you know, all of us here as spiritual entrepreneurs, we know the potency of the spiral, thinking about the spiral journey, and how we're always elevating or in nature, thinking about tornadoes, or thinking about schools of fish and how they travel in these different spirals. But it was so beautiful how this one scientist was talking about spirals and how he was actually able to freeze a spiral of water and contain this, the shape of a spiral, and then apply the shape of a spiral and all kinds of engines and fans that all of a sudden instead of consuming so much energy now became extremely energy efficient. Because this one scientist was pointing out that in mother nature, there are never energy shortages. There's always an abundance of energy, and how do we as humans, tap into this divine flow. And so changing of the gods has been connecting so many philosophical dots for me in my work, and just this allowing myself to do nothing and to have space to just be has really allowed me to open up to experiencing things that I wouldn't have been able to do before. And this all relates because this idea of flow, this ability to be this ability to stop resisting and be in the solitude and be in the stillness is all Pisces energy. So earlier, I mentioned that I still been working and but just taking things dialing things back a lot. I had a Pisces New Moon sorry ceremony for our Pisces New Moon on on March 2, so already a week ago, and I decided that I wasn't going to overwork during this new moon ceremony. Past Leslie would have been like Jeff and I would have been up and creating all of these worksheets, making sure that all these exercises I would have been over preparing and had all of these like 100 things that I wanted to talk about. And then I would show up and you know, push, push, push, push, push, push. This time for Pisces New Moon, I was like, Okay, we're going to embody the archetypal energies that are here, I'm going to embody Pisces energy and just be in the flow. So we showed up to the new moon ceremony, I knew that I wanted to do some kind of meditation. I knew kind of just where I wanted to go with the meditation. But I resisted the need to micromanage and control the meditation by putting down all of my notes. I resisted the need to over prepare. Jeff, like found these like our new moon ceremony worksheets from the previous year and he's like, are these okay? And I went through them and I was like, wow, these worksheets are great. Who created these? Jeff was like, Oh, we have them from last year. And so Pisces energy has really been reminding me and you know, I have my Pisces that my Mercury in pisces I have my midheaven in Pisces. It's been really reminding me To be in my most energized and energetic and impactful self, that I have to deliver midheaven from this place of Pisces from this piece of flow from this place of ease, ease and Flow are so important in our businesses, it's really easy to override that sense of bringing ease and flow by making it hard by overthinking. In fact, there's an Eastern tradition of called trying too hard, which I am the perfect person to talk about trying too hard. And so we're trying to chip away from that trying to revolutionize how we do work from this place of ease and flow. It doesn't mean that everything is going to be easy, breezy, that you can't put effort into it. But how can you be present in that moment and go where things take you. And so the most beautiful result of this new moon ceremony and just kind of showing up in this place of ease and flow, like we had such an amazing time, and this guided meditation that came forth, was incredible. So I'm going to share this meditation, but it's going to make this episode way too long. So if you want this Pisces guided meditation, I would love to offer it to you as a gift. So head on over to the savvy luminary forward slash Pisces for a guided meditation and how to harness your energy and the gift of flow. And this will be the same ceremony, the same meditation that I shared in the New Moon ceremony. It is so beautiful. And I would love to know, what is the gift that you receive. So if you'd like this free guided meditation, again, head on over to the savvy luminary.com forward slash Pisces Okay, so let's get into exactly what is this Pisces archetype. And why this energy is so important in your business, to empower your sense to bring ease and flow in your work. So of course, the Pisces archetype is based on the water element. So meaning that it is so sensitive, it is so intuitive, it is so emotionally connected. Remember, the water signs are Cancer, Scorpio and Pisces. And they work in this beautiful process, where cancer again, is the creator of emotional security. So it creates these safe containers these safe spaces in order for healing to happen. Once cancer creates the safe spaces, cancer hands off to the next water sign Scorpio where Scorpio is like, Hey, let's go deep. Let's reveal where all of these shames and taboos and all of the things that that cause dis ease in our life and our work and let's bring them up into the light so that we can heal them so that we can transform and transmute them and turn them and distill them into something else. And so once the healing part from a Scorpio is done, then Scorpio then hands over the baton to Pisces. And this is literally where the magic happens. Because Pisces is this type of archetypal energy that if you try to logically explain it and define it, the more it will slip between your fingers just like if you've ever tried to like hold a cup of water in your hand without some kind of vessel. The water just like slips between your fingertips. And so that is that Pisces energy it is an containable so we're talking about like, you know, cancer with creating containers or maybe with like, you know, Capricorn about creating structures and boundaries to contain things. Well, Pisces is uncontainable, because this water is so vast, you probably heard me say this quote before and I know you've seen or read this quote by Rumi before the Rumi the poet. Rumi says, You are not a drop in the ocean. You are the entire ocean in a drop. Yes, you are the entire ocean in the drop. And that's what Pisces wants us to remember that Pisces is this idea that everything is so vast that everything is so interconnected. Thinking about the butterfly effect where the flap of a butterfly wing in one part of the world will result in a hurricane in another part of the world where we are all interconnected part of this meditation that I want to share with you on that free meditation that I want to share with you shows us this interconnection between everything, everything in flow that we are all interconnected, so that Pisces energy with that water means that yes, water holds memory. But with Pisces. This water contains all of the memories from all of the multiverses from all of the times and all of the places it already exists in us and our soul. Pisces energy is vast. Pisces energy is deep, Pisces energy just transpires or like just goes across interconnects times and places. If you have strong Pisces energy, and I've seen this so many times with whether your son or your moon or you might have a stellium in Pisces, people that have this strong Pisces energy have this ability to just kind of like sense a space, they can walk into a new house and know the entire history of that house of all the inhabitants because that Pisces energy is so intuitive. It is so intuitive. It is so unified and connected with everything else. Now, Pisces is also mutable, so it can go with the flow. And that's also one of the reasons why Pisces energy is so containable when I think about like the vast Pisces energy. I always think about one of my son's friends. His little girl, she just turned six years old, and she is like Pisces sun, she also has some other Pisces, I can't remember her entire chart. But this little girl, like you see her just like walking down the street. And she is just darling. She has like these big bright eyes and everything is just so fascinating to her. And she is told so so so so so sensitive, but she has like just these massive fields. So like, if we're sitting in the in the park, and there's like a dog that walks by she wants to pet, every single animal that comes by she is so intuitive and so sensitive, yet, also not yet. But also she has these really, really big emotions. And when I first met her before I knew her chart, I was just like, oh my gosh, like when she would have like, kind of like one of her like volcanic emotional eruptions, I would kind of just kind of put like my hands over my eyes and just like, be in disbelief with just like the range of emotions that this little Pisces girl has. But her parents are such the most beautiful parents for this little Piscean girl because instead of you know, in like say like, quote, unquote, the old days, and there's people that still have this is like when a child has like these big fast emotions, we are doing everything to kind of contain those emotions, right? Like we as parents or as, as observers of like children that are having like these big emotions. We're saying like, hey, it's not okay to have those emotions, don't cry, don't do this, like reel it in. And probably you've had a lot of these experiences too. And if you have Pisces energy, you know exactly what I'm talking about. But instead of trying to contain these Pisces emotions of this little girl, her parents kindly stand by her as she's going through these emotions. And they let her have these emotions. And she goes to these massive waves like these, like tsunami waves of emotions from like, seemingly this tiny little thing. Like it could just simply mean like, Oh, my father is going to go on a trip next week. And she's already thinking about how much she's going to miss him next week, and it'll set her off. Now what's so beautiful about her parents being able to kind of just stand there and presence with her. They don't tell her to not have her emotions. They don't tell her that it's too much, or you know, to to rein it in. And but they're still having like, what kind of what can we do with all of these emotions, and so I simply suggested that they give her bumpers, okay. And I've heard myself talk to like my clients that have a lot of this Pisces energy, because we can't contain Pisces energy, right? too vast, to mutable to energetic to inflow that there's like, just no way to contain it. Instead, we give it bumpers so that we can start to direct these energies in constructive ways. So I suggested to this little girl's parents that maybe you give her like a timeline to okay, we're going to cry now and have these big emotions for like five minutes, and then after five minutes, we're going to move on to something else. So she has like some bumpers where she's like, okay, like, go through all of your emotions as quickly as possible. Or on the other hand, what we also did what I was suggesting was like, why don't like she's also this great artist. She's like, she's already like, five, six years old, and she's like, drawing all these amazing, most beautiful things. I was like, well started having her express her emotions in terms of other sensations like colors, or smells or tastes. So it kind of like disrupts this pattern of like, I'm going to have this big emotion of this all going to be all this emotion. But all of a sudden, if she's having a big emotion, we can say, hey, what color is that emotion? What? What does that emotion smell like, and it can kind of take her out and displace that energy and prove a start pointing it and bumping it and directing it in a more constructive way so that we can snap her out of these big feelings much more often, are much more quickly rather. I know like with my mom, she has a Pisces moon. And she would always tell me that when she was little that she was very, very sensitive and very emotional.

And her parents were constantly like dismissing her emotions are negating her emotions or invalidating her emotions. And that really sat with her for a long time. Because, you know, even to this day, she feels really, really ashamed when she needs to cry. But when I look at her chart, I can see that so much of her dis ease in her life, everything from some mental illness to some addictions and things like that have been because she wasn't allowed to have the entire full spectrum of sensation of that Pisces energy. And so sometimes we think of that Pisces archetype, you've probably heard that with Pisces archetype, there can be a lot of addiction, and there can be a lot of mental illness associated with that Pisces archetype. And I want to believe that from this Pisces archetype, that we're not giving the tools and the bumpers to the people that have these Pisces energies to feel all of these fast feelings because Pisces energy is beyond a pathetic It is beyond compassionate is just, it can feel the happiness and the joy and the sadness and the pain of the entire world. So how do we give tools to this Pisces energy so that instead of like erupting or, you know, being so constricted, that we give it a place to flows that it can just pass through instead of getting stuck. When things get stuck. That's where we have the avoidance that we go through addictions and addictions can be anything with Pisces, it could be food addictions, drug addictions, alcohol, gambling, sex, all of those things, whatever is being used to avoid and take away some of these grand feelings, when instead, Pisces needs to be able to feel a need to be able to create the bumpers to take them out of being trapped in this vast wave. So I might have gone on too much about the shadow sides of Pisces. But it's so beautiful when we can see that Pisces at its highest when it's able to feel at its most at the edges of those extremes that that Pisces energy really wants to be relaxed and at peace and at ease. So it needs to flow. It needs to be empathetic and compassionate because it can feel everything. If you have strong Pisces energy, you know when your friends are not okay, you know, when you go into a room and you can just like read the temperature of the room, without like, without even batting an eye or like, whoa, what's going on here. Pisces energy is also our energy that allows us to connect to our soul and allows us to connect to our consciousness to our highest self to spirit to the universe to beyond whatever you have for that name of connecting to that greater energy that we are all part of right that is that unification and the blending that Pisces can do so well. Where it's it's tearing down the it's tearing down the illusions between reality and and what's imagination, right? This illusion disillusion. There's no such thing. It's all energy and Pisces has that ability to break it down and be connected to all Pisces is that energy that connects us to that sense of one love. It is that energy that allows us to dream and to vision. And so Jupiter who is rules, Pisces traditionally as well as Sagittarius and Jupiter is really this kind of spiritual archetype. And the difference between this idea of Jupiter in Pisces versus Jupiter in Sagittarius is that in Sagittarius, it's more about morality. It's around manmade religions and how we should, how we should act and the vision of our big why and our big purpose But Jupiter in Pisces. Now, this is that our big spiritual vision, our ability to imagine and create all of these different worlds. And so therefore the people that have really strong Pisces energy, Natalie, like if their son or their moon or their rising, or whatever their angles, and planets on those angles are stellium if you have that kind of Pisces energy, you really are somebody who is able to take people out of their worlds and put them into the next. So we can think about like movie directors who are authors who create these vast visions, these different universes, that when people are consuming or like consuming the media, or watching watching the movie or reading the books that they are transported to another place and a time. Maybe if you have Mercury in pisces, you might communicate with spirit or be some kind of channel where communication comes through you. You might be some kind of artists where you are really having spirit and emotion and creativity flow through you whether your artistry is through music, or poetry or painting anything that's like intangible, the more logical and the more linear you try to be with Pisces, the more it'll just disintegrate. But the more intangible, the more you can go into those dream and flowy states of it not exactly making sense, the more sense it will have. It's exactly like when you're in that shower, and you're like you're taking a shower in the morning or in the evening. And you're like being bombarded with all of these amazing ideas. And you frantically get out of the shower to write down your ideas, and you're just writing all these different keywords. And then you go back to an hour, you're late later and you're like, what was this, I don't even remember what this was. It's so ephemeral. That is the Pisces archetype. So when we are using Pisces at its highest, it's giving us the sense of connectedness, it's bringing us to this place of flow. Going back to that example of the scientist engineer and changing of the gods where he was able to replicate the physical format of a vortex and how energy efficient it was how flow is so created and that interconnectedness that is so much so much Pisces. So Pisces in your work is so important because we need this energy to bring in more ease and flow. Work doesn't have to be so hard. Of course, we're talking about work with a capital W, not the toil that you have to do. You can be a master of your own energy and bring more ease and flow. I always find it super interesting that the sextiles to Pisces, on one end is Capricorn and then the other end is Taurus. Both these earth signs that are like super, like pragmatic, like let's be practical, let's get things done and make things right. But when we have those sextiles it comes to Pisces and Pisces is constantly reminding Capricorn and Taurus energy to like, hey, like, Isn't there an easier way to do this? Isn't there a way of least resistance? Is this really what your soul wants to do? Is this the vision of the dream that you had? So Pisces is always adding that sense of restoration, relaxation and ease into our work. Now, Pisces energy, of course, we can't just have this place of flow 24/7 Every day, all day, right? Pisces polarity is Virgo. And there is a reason why Virgo and Pisces go together. Because Virgo now Virgo and Pisces they rule the sixth and the 12th house when you look at a natal chart divided into 12. And they come from this place of the axes of productivity, where Virgo loves routines and details and effectiveness and some would say efficiency, you know getting things done in the quickest manner and diagnosing things. Virgo needs that Pisces energy to say like, Hey, how can we loosen this up? How could it not be so rigid? How can we not overwork and then Pisces needs Virgo because well, you know Pisces can create art until you know, art every day. But then how can we really how can we make sure that people understand how can we get more clear and concise with everything and So both we need both that polarity of creativity with the Pisces and Virgo axes. Now, I hope I've explained why Pisces is so important because when you're not using Pisces, you know, this is a place of like deep systemic wounding, right? We've been taught the shadows of Pisces, we've been taught about, Oh, don't be such a daydreamer. Don't doodle, don't be like, you know, like, avoid all these pains, right? Like that spiritual bypassing of the Pisces where it's not safe to be sensitive, where we don't want to look at the wholeness of everything. This is like a real problem when we're just being taught the shadows of Pisces. So how can we strike that balance when where we avoid dreaming where we avoid soul work where we avoid sensitivity and spirituality? Well, then what happens? Like we create these very sterile businesses that don't satisfy our souls needs, or a shadow side of avoidance and like spiritual bypassing, you know, that avoidance of spiritual bypassing when we're not looking at the the hard things, the perceived wounds and the pains, we're not having a full whole experience. And I have a, I'm a true believer that our life and our spiritual entrepreneurship is about integrating all of the parts. We can't just have the love and the light and the happiness because how do we know happiness and joy? If we don't look at pain, and we if we don't look at where we have come from. And so Pisces shows us that it's okay to feel all of it, that we are not here to avoid our emotions, even if they are strong emotions. Pisces energy asks us to feel it all. And to say it's okay. All of this is what creates the wholeness. And of course, if we get really stuck in that place of avoidance, this, of course, then comes to that place of chaos, and mental illness and addiction. And we don't want that. And so how do we give the bumpers to Pisces so that we can feel and to know that even in the solitude and that kind of space that Pisces needs to create, we are never alone. So when we're really using Pisces energy, we know that it is safe to feel the entire spectrum of emotions and not run away from the pain because we need the pain to learn from in our work. We also need Pisces to remind us to be intuitive, that that Pisces energy connects us to our highest self, our spirit, whatever you would like to call it our consciousness. Pisces energy shares with us that it's okay to have imaginary friends or to know spiritual beings and to not be shy to say, Yes, I can sense I can feel these energies. I'm not afraid of being intuitive. And Pisces energy shows us that it's okay to not control and plan every single detail that you already know more than enough and can be in the flow. So let's remember that all of us have Pisces somewhere in our chart, even if you don't have it, like a planet there you have Pisces in your chart in a house somewhere. And wherever Pisces is in your chart in your life and your work. This is where you're meant to let go. To restore, to flow to simply be to make it more easy and effortless to improvise, and to not be so logical. So if you have a strong Pisces in your chart, you might have your sun your moon, your rising or one of your angles in Pisces, and you might have Neptune on your rising or your midheaven I would consider you having a very, very strong Pisces brand. And so if you have a very strong Pisces brand, I know that part of the archetypal energies that you're meant to bring forth is to feel to feel so deeply to be able to bring people out of themselves to experience things like thinking about those like guided meditations. Again, those guided meditations are like just so Piscean because in those guided meditations, you're able to play Pause reality for a little bit and create a new reality that that has a different outcome that allows you to see things in a different way. If you have this strong Pisces, Brad, you might also be a philanthropic business or you might have a real big sense of like a kind of a nonprofit pricing structure or business model. And definitely, you're some kind of visionary, artistic or spiritual business. Maybe you even do a lot of work with the arts and maybe even creating a lot of videos. So let me know if you have a strong Pisces, Bram, some of the like big archetypal Pisces. Superheroes out there, we can think about Piscean sons of Steve Jobs, the creator of Apple, like he just had a vision of the future of the world where we were all using technology in our everyday lives. And of course, the amazing photographer, Ansel Adams who just created these beautiful photographs from Mother Nature. And then of course, Pisces rising. We have Gwyneth Paltrow, Whitney Houston and Johnny Cash. We think of Whitney Houston and Johnny Cash and how amazing they were at singing and telling stories and really touching the souls of their listeners. Gwyneth Paltrow who knows what the heck she actually does, but she definitely has a charm over everybody and is a visionary and gets people to buy crazy things that they didn't even know that they needed. So these Pisces rising brands, how can you be a visionary? Let's take a look at Pisces by house because almost more important than Pisces by planet unless they're your big three is Pisces by house in your business because remember earlier I said that wherever you have Pisces by House is where you're meant to bring more ease and flow into your business. It doesn't even matter if you have a Pisces planet there. So if you are a Pisces rising like Gwyneth Paltrow, or Whitney Houston or Johnny Cash, if you're a Pisces rising, you are here to create a visionary brand identity and leadership style. So how can you lead and guide others with more imagination flow. If you're a Pisces on the second house, you might be an Aquarius rising and if this is you, you're meant to create values, to invest in yourself to add values that are compassionate, and create your brand promise that gift that you give back around acquit around Piscean ideals. If you have Pisces on the third house, you Capricorn risings, you are meant to bring more ease and flow in your communications. So if you have Pisces on that third house, you're here to create communications that are easeful and that to create compassionate learnings and teaching styles. If you have Capricorn in the fourth house, you are here to create empathetic emotional spaces, vast emotional spaces where people are free to feel what they need. And so this fourth house, you might be a Sagittarius rising, and that works out so well for these inspirational Sagittarian leaders. If you have Capricorn on the sixth house, you might be a Libra rising and if you have Capricorn on the sixth house, these are all about your routines and your business health and your business wellness. Those operational systems may be also employees that make things work and run well. So you got it. If you have Pisces on that sixth house, make sure your routines are full of flow and flexibility. If you have

Pisces on the seventh house, you are a Virgo rising. And this Pisces on the seventh house means that you are meant to commit to soul centered customers and collaborators. So if you're a Virgo rising and really interested in you know, bringing more wellness and wholeness to businesses and your leadership style, your clients are those Pisces kind of clients. They might be nonprofits. They might be artists, they are soul centered customers and collaborators. If you have Pisces on the eighth house, you might be a Leo rising and if you have Pisces on the eighth house, this is your place of healing. This is your place of healing and transformation. This is also a place have kind of alchemical like your alchemical goals, meaning other people's money where you're meant to kind of resource easing other people pulls money. And so I know that eighth house can be kind of confusing. It's like, Well, is it deep healing? Or is it working with other people's money, it can be both. And so if you have a house with your Pisces here, this is soul level, deep healing. That's so important for us Leo rising that are here to be joyful, creative leaders. By bringing more pleasure and joy in your leadership, you're actually doing some deep healing at the soul level with Pisces on the eighth house. If you have Pisces have a ninth house, you might be a cancer rising. And if this is you, the ninth house is that place of expanding on your purpose and sharing your work with the world with the wide world. And if this is you, this is you about creating a brand purpose your brand, why your big message around imagination, sensitivity and compassion. So beautiful for the cancer rising leader. If you have Pisces on your 10th house on your midheaven, you may be a Gemini rising. And if you have a 10th house Pisces, you are here to deliver as probably a spiritual entrepreneur or some kind of spiritual messenger talking about spirituality, compassion and unification. In your work and your brand mission. I think about the 10th House spiritual leaders, Kamala Harris is has 10th House on her midheaven. And you know, she's kind of I think she's kind of gotten away from some of her core messaging as the VP right now. But, you know, ultimately he or she is here to bring a unified citizenship. Maybe that's too idealistic. And the other person that I think of when I think of 10th house at the at the midheaven is Marianne Williamson. And you might know her she was a presidential candidate at one time but she is a spiritual thought leader, and your host me i also have 10th House Pisces midheaven with my Mercury there and so I really learned how to tap into showing up in that way as a spiritual spiritual guide, a spiritual messenger and just even thinking about how I deliver my work. I do my best when I channel through spirit and let Spirit speak through me. If you have 11th house with that Pisces there, you might be a Taurus rising. And I love this for you if you have 11th House on your Pisces on your 11th house CUSP because 11th house is about creating your vast community on your platform, your friends and the social impact where you're coming together, over over a theme around soul connection and unification and imagination and compassion. It's such a beautiful place for that 11th House CUSP for those Taurus rising leaders who are here to create peace, you know, bringing together your communities and platforms over compassion, empathy, so beautiful. Now if you have 12th house with Pisces, you are you might be an Aries rising 12th House Pisces This is where Pisces loves to be this is Pisces rules the 12th house and if you have 12th House Pisces, you are here to create deep restoration and really think about unfinished business and how can you be more ease and surrender to all the things that you need to do? Very challenging for the Aries rising who is just about like going and going and going and trailblazing have to remember to do as much rest as you do trailblazing. So that's a look at Pisces by the house. Really quickly, I'll just go through some of the Pisces by planets since I haven't seen you for so long. And maybe you're making it this long into the podcast. But Pisces by planet remember, if you have a Pisces planet, these are gifts that you get to work with in your business. So if you have your son, your creative source, you're just what you do so naturally Well, it is about being a sensitive, imaginative person such a visionary just like Steve Jobs. If you have Pisces Moon Oh, you feel you feel everything and you in your work. You need to create opportunities that allow you to be sensitive and allow you to feel all these deep emotions. You have Pisces and mercury, you think and you express and you communicate through these Piscean ideals, so that Pisces and mercury and right now Pisces is in a Mercury is in Pisces. It's not the most logical way of expressing yourself. So think of yourself as a poet or a magician, not a magician, a musician. See, there's my Mercury in pisces. And I also noticed, I started realizing I have a lot of Mercury in pisces clients and every time I asked them, I asked if they can channel and certainly, what I mean by channel is like letting spirit talk through them. Certainly, I always find that they do so well. When they get out of their logical thinking this and just let the words flow through in their speaking or their writing or their other ways of expression. If you have Venus in pisces, you love to attract and connect with other spiritual compassionate beings. I love it. Your soul people. If you have Mars in Pisces, you are motivated and energized when it comes to things that revolve around giving back and compassion and empathy and feeling into things. If you have Jupiter in Pisces, you probably just have your Jupiter return because Jupiter is currently in Pisces as I record this, and you are such a visionary, you expand and you believe in from this place of beautiful Pisces energy. Now if you have Saturn in Pisces, you are here to you know, Saturn likes to separate Saturn likes to create structures Saturn likes to like rein it in. But Saturn in Pisces that's pretty hard for Saturn to rein in Pisces because Pisces is so vast. So instead Saturn creates, creates, bumpers, again directs all of this energy and learns how to master how to direct all of this vast energy not damaged up, right, we don't ever want to be a dam because that blocks things but we want instead want to direct so that we can be more more in flow. Now I don't think any listeners here have Uranus in Pisces because you would either be born between 1919 and 1927. So if you happen to be a listener born then please let me know I would love to gift you a reading. Or you are very, very young, being born between 2003 and 2010 where you are here to innovate and individuated what it means to be soul centered soul awakening. And then if you have Neptune in Pisces, you haven't yet even been born or you're just a little baby. Born in 2011. I guess you wouldn't be a baby anymore. You could be up to 10 years old. But these young people are here to unite and inspire us with compassion. There's no one living right now that has Pluto in Pisces. The last time Pluto was in Pisces was 1798 to 1823 which is so fascinating and will be in Pisces, again, probably in most of our lifetimes in 2044 to 2068. Of course, if you have north node in Pisces, you are supposed to stretch into your visionary potential and bring more ease and flow into your life. And if you have South Node in Pisces, please move past that pattern of disillusionment and avoidance feel. Please feel all of this with ease flow and support from your highest self spirit, your soul, whatever name you like to call her. Ha. So that was a lot of Pisces energy and I'm so excited to finally complete the 12 archetypes. I've recorded an episode of each of the 12 zodiac signs and how it's used as archetypal energy in our work and our businesses. We need all of these archetypal energies to have a whole business they each have their role, but your big three, your sun, your moon, your rising, those big threes are the archetypal energies that want to be expressed the most in your work. So see where you have Pisces in your chart, by house or planet. See how you need to create more ease and flow and your business on your work. And remember, this is all such a beautiful gift. What will you do with your Pisces energy? Thank you so much for joining me. I will be taking this is the last episode before I'm taking a long pause or it might be a short pause who knows I can finally see colors again. I'm so excited. But I will definitely be taking a pause on this podcast. Hopefully I'll be back very soon because I love coming on here and talking about astrology. And I know that the to the luminary listeners out here, I know that you cannot get enough of astrology just like me. So again, I have a little gift for you, which is the New Moon Meditation that I shared in in my new moon ceremony. So if you would like that free guided meditation from the New Moon ceremony, please head on over to the savvy luminary.com forward slash Pisces and it is my gift to you. I would love to hear what you received from in that guided meditation. Thank you so much for listening and for giving me the space to come back when I am fully recharged and in my place of flow. True Pisces energy. Talk
